

Hi there,

We wanted to reach out again to our customers in order to keep everyone updated on the impact Coronavirus is causing our company & community. Gov. Gretchen Whitmer has issued a shelter-in-place order for all Michigan residents in response to the COVID-19 on Monday. The executive order asking people to stay home except for essential services will go into effect at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday. Under the order, people will be allowed to leave their homes under very limited circumstances. They also must adhere to social distancing measures recommended by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

We have examined the Governor's order and inquired if in fact we're able to continue working. After much investigation it has been determined at this time our company is not considered a service that is essential to life. We have calls and emails into the Governor's office to see if we can be considered an essential business. As many of our customers are aware, two months ago the Governor signed an order for emergency flooding. This order was issued before the COVID-19 virus had impacted us all. We believe that this should take a couple of days to make its way through the channels but we remain confident that we'll be back up and running. Unfortunately, at this time we are among the vast amount of businesses in our state that is going to be unable to continue forward until the order from the Governor expires. This will no doubt have an effect on all of our customers from now until we're able to get caught backup from these few weeks of inactivity. We very much appreciate all of our customer's patience in deal with these unprecedented times.

From all the information we've gathered over the last 24 hours, we are anticipating that once this order expires we will pickup right back up from where we left off. This is just a minor bump in the road for all of us and we will continue to move forward without issue. Our suppliers, as of now have assured us that there shouldn't be any material shortages at this time. This could however change as no one has a crystal ball to see what's to come. We will continue to keep our valued customer's aware of the ongoing situation with these emails.

This is again an unprecedented time for all of us. We will continue working the problem as we're still able to correspond by email to our customers at this time. Please feel free to email us with any questions or concerns. Keep in mind that the volume of customers reaching out may be high, but we will get back to all inquiries as soon as possible.

We again very much appreciate your patience in this matter. Please continue to be as safe as possible out there.
